Nikita Makes New Demand for German Treaty

Visiting Italians Drawn Into Debate With Red Leader

MOSCOW (AP) Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev brushed aside protocol at an Italian diplomatic reception Monday night to make another public demand for a peace treaty with Germany and an end to the occupation of West Berlin.

Visiting Italian leaders, drawn into an impromptu debate with the unpredictable Khrushchev, reiterated the Western position that Soviet terms are unacceptable.

Khrushchev launched into his views on the German question following a toast at the crowded reception, given for himself and Soviet President Klementi Voroshilov by visiting Italian President Giovanni Gronchi.

Wants Solution Now

"If we don't resolve these (German) problems now," the Premier warned, "sooner or later someone will try to change the existing situation by force."

"A situation which has been changed by war generally can only be changed by another war," he said. "Czechoslovakia and Poland will not have their frontiers changed. They are our allies. Prayers are not enough. We must face problems with realism. (West German Chancellor Konrad) Adenauer does not agree, but who asked Adenauer for his opinion?"

Italian foreign minister Giuseppe Pella interrupted: "I must say that we do not share your point of view on Berlin and Germany."

Khrushchev: "Life will teach you. Life is such a good teacher that even the slowest pupils learn their lessons. I trust in man's mind. You say you are for peace. Then, why don't you want a treaty with Germany?"

Pella: "I think we have nothing to add to the picture drawn by President Gronchi this morning."

Covered Same Ground

Khrushchev and Gronchi apparently had covered the same ground at the Kremlin earlier in the day.

The Italians and the Russians concluded their talks before lunch. No conclusions were reached and none were expected, an Italian official said. He added, however, that the conversations this morning reflected none of the tension which developed Monday night.

Gronchi's visit generally had been considered of only limited importance on the international scene. As a result of Monday night's exchange, however, Italians in Moscow felt much more had developed.

For one thing they felt Khrushchev's sharp words might consolidate the ranks of the Italian Christian Democrats, now plagued by a division among the right, center and leftist factions. And they felt no one could question Italy's loyalty to the North Atlantic alliance since Pella had made Italy's position clear in plain words.

$1,395,144 Measure Is Up $26,765

School Board Passes Fund Appropriation

A $1,395,144 appropriation for 1960 — $26,765 higher than last year's fund measure — was passed by the Board of Education at its February meeting Monday night.

The appropriation includes increases in some funds and decreases in others.

A total of $980,700 has been earmarked for salaries this year, compared to $950,867 spent last year.

Supplies are down $9,561 from $68,661 and only $11,500 was allocated for materials for maintenance against $23,885 last year.

Bond retirement totals $279,018 compared to $289,696 in '59 and fixed charges $257,594 against $83,078 last year.

A contingency fund of $145,012 has been set aside, whereas there was none last year. This, however, will absorb a $104,000 debt, school officials explained.

Provisions for contract and open order service will amount to $71,250, slightly less than the '59 expenditure of $73,806. A total of $15,000 has been earmarked for playgrounds and equipment.

The school board appropriation is based on an estimated $1,007,301 to be received through real estate tax collections and $367,843 from the state school foundation program.

Bribe Case Probe Continues

Cleveland Liquor Agent Resigns

CLEVELAND (AP)—State Liquor Enforcement Chief Ivan W. Smith, who personally helped close a trap on Michael T. Corsaro, says there may be more to the alleged bribe case than meets the eye.

Corsaro resigned as chief enforcement agent here at Smith's order Saturday. But he denies taking the $50 he was accused of having in his possession. He says he will retract his resignation and fight to get his job back.

Smith disclosed details of the trap and Corsaro's resignation Monday after conferring with State Liquor Director Richard C. Crouch and Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

But he questioned the reliability of the Cleveland tavern operator who baited the trap for Corsaro and hinted that his investigation of the case has only begun.

Smith identified the man who dropped the marked bills on Corsaro's desk as Peter Reid.

"Reid told me he was out to get Mike," Smith said. "He told me that if he didn't get him this way he'd get him another way."

Twice Corsaro had "knocked off" Reid's place — once three years ago for selling whisky on a beer and wine permit and then last December for selling liquor on Sunday.

"I have strong reason to believe this was a setup," Smith declared. "If it were not for the fact Corsaro had the money in his pocket, I would have no confidence whatsoever in our informant. Mike has an excellent record with the department."

Corsaro denied he had the money in his pocket. He said it was on his desk, where Reid had left it, when Smith and an aide came into his office Saturday.

Smith said Reid contacted him and told him he had been paying $100 a month for two years to Corsaro through an intermediary.

After Reid had made an appointment Saturday to see Corsaro, Smith gave him $50, noting the serial numbers of the two $20s and one $10. He went with Reid but waited outside the building where Corsaro had his office. Reid came out and said he had put the money on the desk and it was not there when he left, Smith said.

Smith said when he confronted Corsaro, the agent at first denied then admitted he had the money in his pocket. He quoted Corsaro as saying he had pocketed the money only because "it could be embarrassing to him to have the bills on his desk."

The Income Tax Study Committee is scheduled to meet tonight to compile information gathered on the necessity of enacting a six-tenths of one per cent income tax. The report of the committee, proposed by city council and Mayor Dean Cranmer and named by Salem Chamber of Commerce, is expected to be turned over to City Council by next Tuesday.

The income tax ordinance has already passed its second reading in City Council and needs only one more favorable reading before becoming law.

Ike Challenges Democrats on Farm Program

Renews Arguments For Administration's Agriculture Formula

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower presented the Democratic-controlled Congress today with an election year challenge to come up with something better than his plan to lower price supports and relax controls to solve the wheat surplus problem.

In a special message, he renewed his arguments for the administration formula.

But he said he will go along with anything constructive which Congress works out if it falls within three guidelines.

Break With Past Position

This was a break with the administration's past position. It has insisted that the wheat surplus problem be met by lowering price supports and eliminating controls. This approach is designed to discourage high-cost producers and to encourage greater use of the grain as a livestock feed.

This change in tone came after Republican leaders in Congress—presumably including Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the potential Republican presidential nominee—had urged that the administration back up from its insistence upon lower supports.

The three guidelines for meeting the wheat situation—which the President described as particularly acute—include:

1. That price-support levels be realistically related to whatever policy Congress chooses in respect to production control. Eisenhower said it must be recognized that the higher the support the more the farmer must be regimented.

2. That price support levels not be so high as to stimulate still more excessive production, reduce domestic markets, and increase the subsidies required to hold world markets.

Direct Subsidy Programs

3. That direct subsidy programs for crops in surplus be avoided; likewise that the chosen programs not invite harmful counter measures by friends or badly hurt other farmers in seeking to aid one group.

"Within these three guidelines, I am constantly ready to approve any one or a combination of any constructive proposals," Eisenhower said. "I will approve legislation which will eliminate production controls, or make them really effective, or allow the farmers themselves to choose between realistic alternatives."

"I am willing to give supports to market prices of previous years, or to establish supports in accordance with general rather than specific provisions of law, or to relate price supports to parity."

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices charged them.

Squarely Up To Congress

The whole tone of the Eisenhower election year message—with both parties bidding for the often crucial farm vote—was to put it squarely up to the Democratic-controlled Congress to do something about solving the problems the President outlined.

"If the Congress wishes to propose a plan as an alternative to the course here recommended, so long as that plan is constructive as I have indicated herein, I will approve it," Eisenhower said.

Fear Influence on Negro Workers

Meany's Blast at Powell Alarms Union Chiefs

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Some AFL-CIO officials expressed fear today that President George Meany's criticism of a Negro congressman may boomerang against achieving organized labor's political and legislative goals.

These officials said privately they are worried that Meany's remarks may tend to harden Negro workers' feelings against the AFL-CIO and result in even more difficulty in getting labor-wanted measures through Congress.

Meany said Monday that Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.), due to become chairman of the House Labor and Education Committee next year, is a "terrible person" to head the committee.

The AFL-CIO chief said Powell has a poor congressional voting and attendance record and stirs up racial hatreds. Powell is in line to head the committee because the present chairman, Rep. Graham

Finch Tells of Other Affairs

Involved With Two Members of Staff

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch admits Carole Tregoff was not the first member of his staff with whom he had illicit sexual relations.

Before he became romantically involved with his red-haired receptionist, he says, he had affairs with two other women employees—one married, one divorced.

Under cross-examination, the crew-cut doctor testified Monday that the first two affairs occurred before he and his wife Barbara reached their "armistice" — an agreement he says permitted him to date other women freely.

Dr. Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 23, are accused of conspiracy and murder in the gunshot death of Mrs. Finch, 36, last July 18. She was killed outside the expensive Finch home in West Covina. The doctor says he shot her accidentally.

The two women Finch said he romanced before Miss Tregoff were identified in court only as Mrs. X and Mrs. Y. He said both worked at his clinic.

His affairs with Mrs. X started in 1953, Dr. Finch said. They trysts took place usually in automobiles, he said, and continued several months.

In 1956, Finch said, he went out with a divorced nurse, usually meeting her at her apartment. He stopped seeing her early in 1957.

The doctor said he denied the affairs to his wife. Even after the armistice, he said, he denied his affair with Miss Tregoff, who was then married.

Finch testified he wanted to Claim They Were Fired Unjustly

Finan, Hopkins to Give Testimony on Payola

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators summoned two Cleveland ex-disc jockeys and Boston orchestra leader Lester Lanin today in a search for evidence of under-the-table payola.

Both of the former disc jockeys — Joseph Finan and Wesley Hopkins — already have told reporters they were unjustly fired by radio-television station KYW in Cleveland.

They accepted money, they said, but only as consultants to record firms — never to play specific records for fees, the definition of payola in the trade.

The House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee also plans to question Charles Young, former record librarian at KYW, and Bill Gibbons, who had the same job with radio-television station WBZ in Boston.

Monday's testimony was confined to the activities of David Maynard and Alan Dary, WBZ disc jockeys.

Both of them still work there, having convinced their employers the cash and gifts they accepted were not payola.

Maynard conceded that record distributors had given him $6,817.16 in cash and automobile payments in the last two years.

Dary smilingly testified that a sponsor and record firms had given him $400 to $500, free whisky and $650 worth of carpeting for his master bedroom.

Both said these gifts were not payola, and that they never accepted anything to play particular records on the air.

Asked what the gifts were for, Maynard said they were expressions of gratitude for playing records at teen-age hops that were not broadcast.

Dary called his gifts either Christmas presents or normal gifts from business friends.

One subcommittee member, Rep. Samuel L. Devine (R-Ohio), said "Mr. Maynard is a somewhat reluctant witness. . . I think he has been considerably less than frank to this subcommittee." Maynard denied this.

IBEC Acquires Plant, Plans No Changes

Basic Economy Corp. To Operate Local Firm As a Division

Stockholders of the Hunt Valve Company last night approved the sale of the Salem firm's assets to the International Basic Economy Corporation, a Rockefeller-supported organization with offices in New York City.

The official signing will take place here Wednesday.

The local plant, with manufacturing facilities and offices at 1943 E. State St., will operate hereafter as the Hunt Valve Division of the International Basic Economy Corporation.

Hunt Valve board of directors had recommended the sale Jan. 25 because, as it was pointed out, "the sales agreement is favorable in all respects and of most importance, includes International Basic Economy Corporation's commitment to continue the planned growth and expansion of the business in the city of Salem and to continue the present method of sales distribution."

Mr. Hunt To Be Consultant

All management is retained in present capacities, with the exception of N. C. Hunt, founder and principal stockholder, who will serve as vice president in charge of engineering, research, development, and as consultant to the company.

L. A. Bateman will serve as executive vice president and general manager of all operations.

Howard E. Jesko is vice president and Andrew V. Ney, sales manager.

Mr. Bateman joined the Hunt organization last June. For a number of years he was vice president and general manager of the Murray Corporation's Eljer Division here. He and his wife, Dorothy, and two children, reside at 861 Highland Ave.

Mr. Jesko, who has been with Hunts since 1956, formerly was assistant chief accountant with the National Cleveland Co. He and his wife, Eleanor, and four children reside at 894 Franklin St.

IBEC Is Rockefeller 'Baby'

International Basic Economy Corporation (IBEC) is a development, financing, and investment organization whose activities range from the operation of supermarkets and mutual funds to the ownership of domestic manufacturing plants making pneumatic air devices, valves and vegetable oil extraction machinery.

IBEC also assists American and foreign businessmen seeking to enter the international field through investment, manufacturing or licensing. It is expected to report sales of approximately $80,000,000 for 1959.

35,000 Hear Talk By Billy Graham

ENUGU, Nigeria (AP) — Billy Graham received an enthusiastic welcome Monday night from 35,000 people who crowded into a sports stadium here in the capital of eastern Nigeria.

Bishop E. T. Dimeari of the Anglican Church, welcomed the American evangelist. He said that when it was decided to invite Graham to Nigeria this year, the Christian Council did not know he would coincide with Nigeria's independence year.

Dr. Michael Okpara, premier of Eastern Nigeria, welcomed Graham on behalf of the government and people.

"This is the biggest crowd I have seen in the region for many years. I hope Graham's visit will mark the beginning of a religious revival all over Nigeria," he said.

Graham in his reply said the crowd was "more than the fulfillment of reports I have heard about eastern Nigeria."

"I was told here the people worship God," he said. "This demonstration confirms it."

Off-Street Parking Saved Ashland

Local Group Learns How Metered Lots Were Financed

Off-street parking lots financed can save the downtown area.

Particularly if the program works out as satisfactorily as it did in Ashland, Ohio.

This was the impression brought back from Ashland by a delegation of Salem Chamber of Commerce members, City Councilmen and Mayor Dean Cranmer.

The group went to the central

Ohio city Saturday to view the overall parking program utilized there and to study figures relative to the implementation and development of the program.

Ronald Leigh, executive secretary of the Salem Chamber, said the city of Ashland installed its off-street parking a little over a year ago and financed it through the sale of $375,000 worth of mortgage revenue bonds.

THE NUMBER OF metered spaces in Ashland increased from 250 to 800 as a result of the program with income jumping from an annual $21,000 average to $58,

000 in the first year.

Leigh noted that Mayor Donald

Hostetler of Ashland expected the revenue from the meters to bring in $70,000 in a few short years.

Leigh said a similar program in Salem is expected to increase the number of parking meters and spaces in Salem from 250 to 682.

Revenues from the meters are expected to climb from the present

$27,500 annually to $56,065, he said.

The local proposed program calls for large, blacktopped, well-lighted and marked parking lots near the downtown district, estimated to cost between $200,000 and $400,000.

The same engineer who designed the Ashland project has been consulted in the Salem program.

Retarded Child Requires Difficult Decision

One's heart goes out to parents of retarded children. For theirs is the responsibility for making a wrenching decision.

Until I read a recent report of the National Association for Retarded Children, I had no idea that the United States has more than a million of these hapless youngsters and another 120,000 are born each year.

Sooner or later, most parents of retarded children face the decision whether or not to place the child in a private or public institution.

Some make this decision as soon as they are assured that their baby is incurably retarded. Others, through hope, fear, sense of responsibility or lack of information, defer the decision, sometimes until the retarded child has become an adult in years.

A retarded baby is often every bit as lovable as a well child. Once the child has laid claim upon the parents' affection, it is most difficult to arrive at a decision to surrender the child to an impersonal institution.

The longer the decision is postponed, the more difficult is the adjustment of the retarded child—and his parents.

MY EXPERIENCE in medical practice has taught me that parents facing this situation usually have regret or remorse over what ever decision they make—to institutionalize or keep the child at home.

And I know from experience that no rule may be laid down for all cases.

There are degrees of retardation. One who is totally unable to care for himself is defined technically as an idiot.

The next classification, known as imbecile, is capable of learning simple habits of self-care.

A still higher classification, moron, may advance to the training level of a 7- to 12-year-old, to tie his shoestrings, dress himself, help a little about the house.

AN OCCASIONAL child improves when given thyroid extract. A very few with rare chemical disturbances may benefit by a special diet which requires expert supervision.

It is almost impossible for parents to keep at home a child in the idiot class. Parents will have to sacrifice may often undertake care of a less handicapped child.

Parents who make this last decision in good conscience must be prepared for a lifetime of daily deprivations. To the mother, upon whom the brunt of the work must fall, it is a burden not lightly to be undertaken, for, in so doing, she knows that her one unfortunate child will demand far more of her energies than her normal children and her husband.

SOME RETARDED children die at a relatively early age. But others live on until their parents become too old to continue their care. The decision to send the unfortunate to an institution at this stage is indeed difficult.

The National Association for Retarded Children at 99 University Place, New York, N.Y., has information to assist bewildered parents facing this problem.

News of Meetings, Helpful Hints For Farmers

Report on Hay, Pasture Crops

The patchwork pattern of Ohio's winters is a stern test for crops as well as for people and animals.

Harsh as they may be, winters such as the 1958-59 one, separate the "sheep" from the "goats" of the plant world.

Salem Man Named to Farm Bureau Unit

LISBON — Joseph Less of Salem RD 5 was one of 21 farmers recommended for appointment and reappointment to the state commodity advisor committees of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation Board of Trustees, according to President Ferris Owen.

He was reappointed on the fruit and vegetable committee.

Seven new men were named and 14 were reappointed in the five advisory commodity committees: field crops, dairy, poultry, livestock, and fruits and vegetables.

"The committees do not make farm bureau policy; that's done by farmers in the field," Owen said. "The men, most of whom were named to three-year terms, are advisory to the Farm Bureau Federation Board as it deals with marketing and research policies written by farmers at annual meetings."

First meetings of the committees will be held in Columbus Feb. 17-18 for fruits and vegetables, on March 1-2 for poultry, March 3-4 for field crops, March 8-9 for livestock and March 16-17 for dairy men, Owen said.

MEETING IS POSTPONED

LISBON — The February meeting of the Columbiana County Board of Education scheduled for tonight has been postponed indefinitely because of the death of Atty. Harvey E. Elliott of West Cleveland, father of Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, president of the county board.

COURTHOUSE TO CLOSE

LISBON — Columbiana County Courthouse will close Friday in observance of Lincoln's birthday. County commissioners announced Monday. The Lisbon post office and banks will remain open as usual.

Dr. J. L. Parsons of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station reports that alfalfa, long regarded as a prestige legume in the Ohio farm scene, turned out to be the "goat" after last winter layed it low. At the Trumbull County experiment farm this plant was winter-killed and produced nothing in 1959.

Birdfoot trefoil, on the other hand, which is usually exceeded in yield by alfalfa, turned out to be the "sheep." Trefoil, although damaged to a certain extent, recovered from the seige of inclement weather to produce three tons in two cuttings, he said.

In the Trumbull County test Viking led other trefoil varieties, yielding more than three tons per acre last season. The previous season this trefoil typed yielded 4.3 tons, as much as leading alfalfa varieties.

Parsons says that while Viking is superior when harvested for hay, it is not always best for grazing. Station trials have shown that the low-growing Empire type of trefoil is best for pasture.

Where it is adapted, alfalfa is still the favored legume. In north-eastern Ohio, however, there are areas where alfalfa is not adapted and trefoil probably will retain its superior position over alfalfa.

Profit-Sharing Vs. Pension?

It's Your Pocketbook

By FAYE HENLE

The growth of deferred profit-sharing plans is outpacing the number of newly created pension plans. At least this was so in the third quarter of last year and the experts predict the trend may well continue.

What is the difference between a deferred profit-sharing plan in which upon retirement you will share in your company's profits, and a pension plan?

If you are covered by a pension, your company has pledged to put aside for you a specific number of dollars which will be yours upon retirement.

retirement. They have assumed a responsibility and the Treasury Department keeps a close watch over how these funds are administered. Pension payments are part of the expense of running a business.

IF YOUR COMPANY offers a deferred profit-sharing plan, you are promised a prorated share of the company's profits upon retirement. Many profit-sharing plans, however, also pay out a stated portion of their benefits at regular intervals while you are still employed reserving the remainder for when you retire. Often your retirement under such an arrangement comes in the form of an annuity. The cost of your retirement is not an expense factor to the company. Some profit-sharing plans even offer benefits should you be laid off or become ill.

This trend toward the increased use of profit-sharing by industry has numerous implications for you. If you are working for a small company—less than 500 employees—and heretofore had no such benefit, a profit-sharing plan could increase your annual pay by an average of 13.6 per cent, according to the Council of Profit-Sharing Industries.

If you are employed in a company having 500 to 5,000 employees, the council—a nonprofit organization devoted to developing profit-sharing plans—reports the average benefit to you is 9.3 per cent. If yours is a company with more than 10,000 workers, your benefit amounts to about 7.5 per cent of your yearly pay.

IF YOU ARE working for a company that already offers you a pension but adds a profit-sharing plan, you get these added benefits. Possibly, upon retirement your pension will be paid to you at a fixed rate, while if there is a deferred profit-sharing benefit, it might be invested in a manner that will provide you additional income but at a rate that will fluctuate much like a variable annuity.

To management, profit-sharing plans offer greater flexibility in the types of benefits offered since thus far the Treasury is exercising a less careful watch. Here, too, there is less responsibility on the part of management and often a great plus factor in worker morale. To the consumer, a company working under a profit-sharing plan can often hold the price line better than a competitor minus such a plan.

A classic example is the company that makes an electric welding machine. Today, this company sells its better engineered product for 30 per cent less than the 1934 price despite the fact that in the past 25 years steel, the major component, costs three times as much and overall wages at the plant have increased fivefold.

Pointing to the fact that industry last year, via profit-sharing plans, split some 850 million dollars among more than two million employees, Rear Adm. A. C. Burrows Ret.) president of the council declares:

"Profit-sharing makes business partners of capital, management and employees, promotes better labor relations within a plant, and most important, lends stability to our economy."

Premium Will Be on Know-How

The U.S. Labor Department's new manpower study dealing with the next 10 years contains much eye-popping material. But nothing in it will cause more concern than the findings on employment prospects for the 26 million young citizens who will be entering the labor force before 1970.

These are the "war babies." It is reasonable guess there will be plenty of work for them to do; jobs will be looking for men and women with the know-how to do them. And that is where the eye-popping material in the Labor Department's study will be found.

It predicts an acute shortage of young men and women with know-how.

They will have gone to school longer than their predecessor newcomers in past years—if they stayed in school—but they will need to be fitted into the most complex industrial society ever evolved. It is question whether they will have the skills they need to perform the responsible jobs that will be waiting for them. It is question whether their employers will have the patience and the knowledge of on-the-job training to fit them for wage-earning.

If they do not stay in school, on the other hand, they will join a lost generation, industrially speaking. In the 1960s, unskilled labor will be unneeded. And the problem is even more troublesome than the Labor Department makes it appear with its statistical approach.

The department assumes that students who drop out of school before getting a high school diploma could be persuaded to stay in school and this would make them a net addition to the skilled labor supply of the future. That is too easy an assumption.

Teen-agers tend to drop out of school because they are not doing well in school. For the most part, students who are not doing well in school are incapable of doing well. They lack capacity for learning. Others who have capacity for more learning lack incentive to try. Only rarely can they be appealed to successfully to try what has become distasteful to them.

Here is likely to be the toughest problem of all—the presence of a growing number of unskilled citizens with no job prospects and no possibility of upgrading themselves. Compared with it, all the other employment problems of the '60s, may be minor.

A Little Bit of Both

A remarkable proposal for making "honest" men and women out of amateur tennis players who are forbidden to earn money yet are required to pay for their keep like everybody else has been turned down by United States Lawn Tennis Assn.

The proposal was offered by the French Lawn Tennis Assn., perhaps because the French are realists by nature and with less capacity for self-deception than Americans and Australians, who account for the bulk of today's tennis "amateurs."

The Frenchmen would set up a class of "authorized players," who would be without the taint of professionalism but would be equally free from the stain of hypocrisy that conceals the otherwise obvious fact that tennis players must eat and pay plane fare and room rent. An "authorized" player would be authorized to draw all the money he could get for his services as an "amateur" attraction.

Dwight F. Davis Jr., son of the man who put up the Davis Cup, emblematic of world amateur tennis supremacy, says "authorized players" would destroy amateurism. That much is indisputable. What could be disputed, however, is whether amateurism is going to be saved.

The struggle to save it is going on in football, notably, where hundreds of players listed as amateurs are dependent on football for their current livelihood and their future prospects of making a living.

It is observable in basketball, where to be upward of 7 feet tall is to be in danger of being offered an attractive deal for services. It rages in field and track, where gate attractions worth big money to promoters sometimes wonder why they aren't worth a little money for personal expenses and prerogatives.

In every sport where there's a gate there's a problem. One may wonder sometimes if the shadowland that separates the simon-pure amateur who plays for fun at his own expense from the cold-turkey pro who plays for pay—and the more the better—isn't there for a purpose and therefore worth saving.

It is an area of indecision and trial—a purgatory for souls making the long march from something they once did for their own amusement to something they now do for the amusement of others.

Good Luck, John

John Callahan's acceptance of a job with the Ohio Department of Education in Columbus will take from Salem a man who has given 12 years of invaluable service to the Salem public school system.

As dean of boys at Salem High School, he has filled capably a highly important job in guidance work. His work as assistant principal at Salem Senior High since that building was opened in the fall of 1958 and his supervision of the Mickey McGuire athletics in the elementary grades has been outstanding.

Salem has been fortunate to have had Mr. Callahan in its school system and the Board of Education has seen fit to accept his resignation with regrets. We wish him the best of luck in his new position of supervisor of teacher certification with the state department.

Dr. Calvin Pumpton, of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, has been chosen dean of Amherst. Since many colleges are pretty sick, due to the economic situation, the idea of surgeon-deans may be widely followed.

One of the big airwave chains has okayed canned laughter and applause. Says it is "an artifice of showmanship which may contribute to enjoyment of listeners and watchers" and which, unless overdone, need not be labeled as bogus. Webster defines "artifice": Ingenuity; trickery; artful stratagem or trick. Webster defines "bogus" as spurious; sham and says "spurious" means false; not genuine.

The public is not bothered much, because it has sat in deadpan silence, knowing that there could be no genuine laughter or hand-clapping at the performance of some comics. But it didn't realize that a top airwave chain held it to be good clean fun.

Our Retaliatory Potential (on paper) Is Tremendous

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel

A member of President Eisenhower's cabinet took a taxi down Miami Beach's main street last Tuesday morning and drove right into the middle of next fall's campaign.

Secretary of Labor James Mitchell didn't plan it that way but it turned out to be the first real coup of the campaign. It will make it most difficult for labor's political strategists to hack away at Vice President Nixon, President Eisenhower and the Republican high command in the final payoff race.

Furthermore, Mr. Mitchell is the only national Republican leader who could have done it. He had just spoken to a powerful coalition of labor chiefs in Bar Harbor, Tuesday morning.

He headed for the airport last Tuesday morning.

On the main drag, he saw from his taxi window a strolling group of men in sports outfits. He recognized them as leaders of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

If there is another Republican could have identified them, he can have the Riesel special service award.

THE GARMENT WORKERS organization is an old Socialist union. Out of its history and tradition sprang the men who created Franklin Roosevelt's New Deal.

But such is the scope of Jim Mitchell's acquaintance inside labor that he knew them and soon was seated in a place of honor at a luncheon at the side of his chief, David Dubinsky, who feels about the Republican party the way Harry Truman does about the man in the White House.

At the luncheon, the ebullient Dubinsky may have been carried away by the good fellowship of the moment. He said that he had known secretaries of labor, Democrats and Republicans, since Calvin Coolidge's time. But Jim Mitchell "was the most competent, most understanding and the best secretary of labor" of them all.

That would have been surprising enough. But to top that, "DD" then smashed all tradition. He never—not even hardly ever—does a radio or television broadcast. But he put the quote on television tape.

There are few more shrewd political or public relations strategists than Dave Dubinsky. He can smell out a story in the making like a city desk pro. He knew he was making news, not only for the moment, but for the rest of the year.

WITH DUBINSKY, it isn't enough to report that he might have done it because he meant what he said.

He could have said it off the record. He can handle one of those like he used to cut a coat pattern. So it can only be interpreted that he put it on the record to serve notice on the Democratic party that no one has labor—at least not the militant Garment Workers and their New York balance of power Liberal party—in the ballot box.

In fact that was the only interpretation which the Democratic party strategists—present in Miami Beach for the AFL-CIO executive council session—could have made of the whole day's activities.

Earlier, Mr. Mitchell had talked to a joint session of the high command of the powerful AFL-CIO Construction and Building Trades Dept. and Metal Trades Dept. They represent more than three million union workers.

They invited Mitchell down to speak. The secretary of labor said among other things that he was not planning to use the new Landrum-Griffin Act in a punitive fashion.

MITCHELL REVEALED that he planned to set up a small traveling band of men—12 or 15—to go around the country advising unions on how to comply with the law.

The secretary said he would try to avert unconscious violation of the law and thus assure that union funds are properly expended and reported. He hoped to avoid any swift crackdowns.

He also promised help in getting new laws on picketing which the Building Trades Union wants.

All this won't keep labor from officially backing a Democrat—but it could keep important labor leaders sitting on the very lands with which they applauded Dwight Eisenhower's secretary of labor last Tuesday.

New Spending Orgy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

School Measure Detrimental To Sound Economy

The Democrats in the Senate are unwittingly doing a great deal to scare American business. They have set the stage for a spending orgy by government which can gradually cut down the purchasing power of the dollar.

The vote in the Senate last week to provide nearly two billion dollars in the next two years for "school aid" could start the federal government on an unprecedented course of subsidizing teachers' salaries.

What has hitherto been a local obligation now could become a federal liability every year. It starts with a few hundred million for teachers' salaries but, once a formula of this kind is imbedded in federal budgets, it means increasing sums every year thereafter.

Certainly school teachers should be better paid and, if the states don't recognize this, they will lose teachers and fail to gain new ones. But once the federal government starts an "aid" program, the states will gradually transfer to it the major responsibility.

This could even lead to federal control of the curriculum and teaching methods—as is the case in many a totalitarian government.

THE STATES are not bankrupt. If they fail to appropriate enough, it is the local citizenry who should be making a fight for better schooling. The moment the federal government steps into anything, it becomes a custom that is never repealed.

What can all this mean to business?

If dollars are to be cut down in value, unions will insist upon higher wages. Then prices start going up faster and faster. Also, interest rates have to be boosted to attract investors. It means a dislocation of the American economy.

Now, many of the 42 Democrats and nine Republicans who voted for the $1,800,000,000 measure to aid the schools realize that in the House of Representatives this bill will be pared down, if not rejected altogether.

Then there is a probability of a presidential veto if the bill should get through the two houses.

It is, however, the possibility that this kind of spending will be approved by the White House if a Democratic administration comes into power a year hence which is causing apprehensions in business circles.

It is significant that 10 Democratic senators from the South and Sen. Lausche (D-Ohio), voted against the school bill along with 23 Republicans but the coalition wasn't big enough to stop the measure.

Naturally, all the would-be presidential candidates on the Democratic side announced themselves as in favor of this inflationary bill. Vice President Nixon had a chance earlier to break a tie on a somewhat similar bill and he cast his vote against it. He had been warned that this might hurt him politically but he wisely disregarded such advice.

SKYROCKETING expenditures of the federal government are a matter of growing concern. Just a few days ago, Maurice H. Stans, director of the federal budget, gave some unpleasant facts to the public in a speech he made in Chicago.

He pointed out that the U.S. Treasury is faced with a large amount of "future obligations" growing out of the tendency to start a system of continuous spending for projects—many of them taken over from the states. He said:

"Our present national debt of 290 billion dollars is far from all we owe for the past. Here are some items it doesn't include. Our already accrued liability for military retirement is about 30 billion."

"Our unfunded present accrual for retirement benefits for civilian government employees is almost 28 billion. On top of that, future pensions, compensation and other benefits owed to veterans will cost about 300 billion."

"Now, the 290 billion of current public debt, plus more than 350 billion of future obligations for past services, plus 98 billion of 'COD's,' adds to the almost incredible total of nearly 750 billion."

"That is the federal government's mortgage on America's future—on ourselves and our children—beyond the regular annual cost of defense, welfare and commerce."

"Is it any wonder that your President pleads for a sense of proportion, for a limit on compulsive spending, for a passion for responsibility?"

WHAT MR. STANS means by his reference to commitments for the future is illustrated by the new school-aid bill. Once it starts, an annual obligation of the federal government is incurred.

These are what is known as "built-in" expenditures and Mr. Stans says:

"I see already built-in increases pushing expenditures up and up year after year. I see pressures continuing to mount for the federal government to spend more and more, to take over local government's problems and to meet demands from pressure groups for more handouts on many fronts."

If we yield to these temptations, we can soon have 90 or 100-billion-dollar budgets, higher taxes or more deficits, debasement of our money and weakening of our economy."

How many members of Congress heeded that warning?

The Democratic majority in the Senate evidently didn't and neither did the few Republicans who apparently were intimidated by political threats at the polls coming from pressure groups.

Maybe some day an informed electorate will constitute itself as the biggest pressure group of all and vote for representatives who favor a sound economy.

A Really Rare Thing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) "Most people don't live," said Edward G. Robinson. "They worry about the after-life—and they haven't really lived here."

"Living itself is a really rare thing. So very few people actually do live. They don't venture forth enough to be what they could be, which is—themselves," he says.

At 66, Robinson, a lower East Side boy who yearned in his youth to be a minister and wound up a rich and famous actor, is convinced that the thing which defeats most people is fear.

"They are afraid of living itself, the torment and consequences of living," he mused over a luncheon steak.

"We are raised up narrow-minded, and if we are to grow we must re-evaluate things."

"Many people are afraid of living because they are unwilling to pay the price. But you can't really duck the price. Happiness and unhappiness are interwoven in every life."

"Tragedy comes to everyone, and I think I've had my share. But if you don't let tragedy defeat you, you become that much richer as a human being."

To the public, Robinson is still best known for his gangster role in "Little Caesar," but in some 40 stage vehicles and 70 films he has played everything from business tycoons to scientists.

"Some actors say that if they had their lives to live over again they wouldn't go into the theater. But I would," he said.

"Aside from the material rewards of acting, you can express a sense of dedication."

"It is a great satisfaction to know that you can stir people—if you have the ability—to their innermost depths, to make them feel a little more compassionate toward others and toward themselves. That is a wonderful power."

"That is why an actor should always enlarge his scope and understanding, and try to enrich his own life in every way."

"The same thing is true, of course, for anyone in any field. The richer your own life, the better your work."

Here is his own philosophy, based on more than six decades of active living:

"Don't hurt people."

"Have a goal that is beyond you, and more important than you are. Serve it, and you will have more courage in life—and your life will have more importance, to you as well as to others."

"But never be sure you've really got the final answer to life or the problem of living. If you do, you're finished—done for."

Hope He Will Induce China to Retreat Indians Eagerly Anticipate Arrival of Soviet Premier

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian officials eagerly await the arrival Thursday of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. They consider him the only person who might induce Red China to retreat in the bitter dispute over the border between India and Tibet.

India's leaders attach about the same importance to Khrushchev's four-day visit as that given to President Eisenhower's visit last December.

Veiled Warning To Peiping

Eisenhower's coming was regarded by many as a veiled warning to Peiping against using force to seize 50,000 square miles of border territory claimed by both India and Communist China. The President did not disappoint his Indian listeners when he told parliament that the United States is ready to come to the aid of its friends in the even of aggression.

Khrushchev is viewed more as an "honest broker" — one who might use his top Communist position to persuade Red China to ease its claims.

Indian leaders, from Prime Minister Nehru down, have been encouraged by Khrushchev's refusal to take sides in the dispute. But there has been concern over the Communist chief's description of the dispute as a misunderstanding.

"Misunderstanding is precisely what it is not," declared the influential Hindustan Times in a recent editorial.

The newspaper pointed out that India has explained its position in scores of notes and letters over the past five years—that the disputed territory is India's legally and historically.

Nehru will get an opportunity to reiterate that position in talks with Khrushchev Thursday and Friday. The Soviet leader's reaction could profoundly influence future Indian attempts to negotiate the dispute. It also may provide the outside world with some insight into the often enigmatic relations between Moscow and Peiping.

In 1955 Western observers complained that India's nonalignment policy was set in the direction of communism. Communist observers feel India now is nonaligned in the other direction.

Leetonia Agency Marks Anniversary

LEETONIA The Greenamyer Agency, Leetonia insurance and real estate office, is celebrating its 75th anniversary.

Starting in 1885 by the late J. S. Greenamyer in a room on the second floor of the Wick Block, now occupied by the telephone exchange, it was soon moved to the ground floor along with the founding of the building and loan company in 1889. It was changed to a partnership in 1894 by the addition of his son, the late C. E. Greenamyer, who succeeded to the business in 1904. He operated it alone until 1937, when his son, Edward C. Greenamyer, acquired ownership.

The business was moved to the present quarters at 30 Walnut St. in 1953, and in 1956 an interest in the firm was acquired by J. Leeland Helt, former postoffice employee.

The two still operate under the name of the Greenamyer Agency and J. S. Gibson has been associated in the real estate brokerage side of the business since 1939. Miss Betty Helt has been office secretary since 1941.

In celebration of the anniversary, "open house" will be held Thursday and Friday and Saturday morning.

USW Spurns Proposal of Timken Co.

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union has rejected a new contract proposal from the Timken Roller Bearing Co. The company said the plan would increase wage and other benefits an average of 40 cents an hour for 9,500 production and maintenance workers.

The union told company representatives at a meeting Monday afternoon the proposal was unacceptable because it did not include provisions for an agency shop. This type shop requires all employees to pay monthly dues to the union regardless of whether they are union members.

Timken rejected demands for an agency shop, stating that neither compulsory union membership nor compulsory payment of dues to the union is fair or proper because it takes from the employee the right to make a free and voluntary choice.

Also rejected by the union was a company offer to extend the right to make a free and voluntary choice.

Bob Coy Named Basketball Coach at Collinwood High

Bob Coy, former basketball and baseball star at Salem High School, has been named head basketball coach at Collinwood High in Cleveland.

Bob Coy succeeds Joe Lesko whose resignation was announced Monday. Lesko plans to stay on at Collinwood as a teacher.

Coy has been serving as coach of the Collinwood Jayvees.

He was graduated from Salem High in 1951. During his junior and senior years here, Coy was a starting forward on the crack Quaker basketball teams which compiled a record of 33 wins and only five losses under Coach Bob Miller in 1950 and John Cabas in 1951. Coy was one of the top scorers on the team which also featured Bob Theiss and Jim Callahan.

Coy also played second base and pitched for the 1951 high school baseball team, the last squad the school had.

He at one time was the property of the Cleveland Indians baseball club. Coy was graduated from the Western Reserve University where he also starred in basketball and baseball. During his senior year there, Coy and Bob Theiss, also of Salem, were co-captains of the cage squad.

Coy has been teaching at Collinwood High since 1956, except for time spent in military service. He is married and has one daughter, aged 2. Coy is currently working on his master's degree at Kent State University. He and his family live in Mayfield Heights.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry H. Coy, live at 251 Jennings Ave. here.

Collinwood High School came into basketball prominence early this season when it snapped a long winning streak of defending state champion Cleveland East Tech.

Coy remarked that he hopes to build the Collinwood team up to the point where it can come to Salem in the near future and lick the Quakers.

Events leading up to the bombing attempt—the dynamite never exploded—were unfolded by William Columbus Johnson, 33, in a written statement released by police Monday.

Johnson is a deacon in the Rev. J. T. Robinson's church in the little industrial town of Milledale, near Atlanta.

"Velma Robinson stated the world was getting more complicated every day, that the wrong people were married to each other," the Johnson's statement said. "She led me to believe that she would marry me."

Subpoenas were issued ordering the Robinsons to appear before a grand jury to tell their stories. Both are about 36.

Johnson, charged with attempted murder, is in jail under $5,000 bond.

Other legislative recommendations included:

1. A three-year extension of the soil bank land retirement program and an expansion from the present 28 million acres to 60 million acres. This program is designed to help curtail overproduction. Eisenhower proposed that the government be permitted to make rental payments on retired land in the form of crop surpluses as well as cash.

2. A vigorous advancement of the government's food for peace program for moving surpluses to needy areas abroad.

3. An aggressive research program to develop new markets and new uses for farm products.

4. An expansion of the rural development program to help low income rural families find better opportunities on and off the land.

The message made no recommendations regarding extension of the sugar control act which expires at the end of this year. This act is designed to help stabilize prices and supplies through a system of import and domestic marketing quotas.

Neither did it mention a proposal made by Eisenhower in his budget message to raise the interest charged to rural power and telephone borrowers by the Rural Electrification Administration.

James C. Hagerly, White House press secretary, said these two matters will be laid before Congress by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

In emphasizing need for new wheat legislation the President pointed out that the government has about 3½ billion dollars tied up in surpluses of the grain. He said it costs the government more than $1,000 a minute the year round to stabilize wheat prices and income.

Eisenhower said he has repeatedly expressed a preference for farm programs that "will ultimately free the farmers rather than subject him to increasing governmental restraints. He added:

"I'm convinced that most farmers hold the same view. But whatever the legislative approach, whether toward greater freedom or greater regimentation, it must be sensible and economically sound and not a political poulitice, and it must be enacted promptly."

Hunt Valve, which is a major producer of air and hydraulic control valves, recently completed an office expansion at the local plant which was also modernized several years ago.

Hunt valves today are distributed throughout the United States and in Canada, England and South America.

The firm makes valves ranging in size tiny enough to hold in the palm of one's hand up to valves machined down from castings weighing 800 pounds.

Hunt-manufactured valves were used on the Nautilus, the first atomic-powered submarine.

In addition to the operating and control valves, products include compressed air and low and high pressure hydraulic valves.

Teen-Age Robbers Seriously Wound Minister In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — The Rev. Leo K. Bishop, 48, vice president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, was shot and seriously wounded Monday night when he and his wife resisted robbery attempts by a gang of teenage robbers.

He was shot once in the groin and a second bullet grazed the back. His condition at Illinois Central Hospital was reported fair this morning after four hours surgery during which the bullet was removed.

Police said a gang of five boys and two girls, all Negroes, had terrorized three South Side districts in a series of holdups and robbery attempts. At least two of the boys, police said, carried rifles.

Police said they believed the same gang also fired at an electrical engineer as he fled them and later robbed a doctor and his wife of $15.

The Rev. Mr. Bishop and his wife, Pauline, 47, were returning to their home in the South Shore district when a car carrying seven teenagers drove up alongside.

Mrs. Bishop told police two of the boys got out of the car, walked past her and her husband. Then, she said, they came up from behind and one stuck a rifle in the minister's back.

Mrs. Bishop told police she grabbed the rifle and pushed it away, but a third boy got out of the car and shook her free of the rifle. The boy with the rifle then fired, wounding her husband.

Mrs. Ray Madison

Carol Odey and Ray Madison Wed At First Baptist Church

In a candlelight service Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church, Miss Carol Odey became the bride of Ray Madison. The Rev. R. J. Hunter, church pastor, officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Odey of RD 2, Beloit. Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Madison of RD 2, Salineville are the bridegroom's parents.

Ferns and arrangements of gladioli decorated the altar for the service which was witnessed by the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom. Marshall Bailey presided at the organ for the nuptial music.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Richard Odey of Maximo, as her father was unable to attend because of illness.

The bride's gown with chapel train was designed with a fitted bodice of Chantilly lace featuring a Sabrina neckline with sequin detail and brief sleeves. A Chantilly lace hemline accented the princess lines of the skirt. Her veil of English illusion was attached to a petal clip of Chantilly lace edged in seed pearls. She carried a showered bouquet of white roses.

Miss Gloria Odey of North Georgetown was maid of honor, and Miss Marlene Ellis of Salem was the bridesmaid. They wore blue dresses with two toned blue hats and carried colonial bouquets of blue and white carnations.

Howard Madison, twin brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ralph Odey Jr. and Martin R. Catlos, both of Salem, and Alden Madison of East Liverpool, ushered.

The bride's mother, who wore a Navy blue dress with ice blue accessories and the bridegroom's mother, who wore a grey dress with black accessories, each complemented her attire with a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held in the church social room. The four-tiered wedding cake was topped with a nosegay of pink and white carnations in keeping with the pink and white color theme chosen by the bride. Arrangements of pink and white roses, carnations and gladioli added to the table decorations.

Every individual deals with the probate court at some time in his life for certification of his birth, marriage and death.

In Mrs. John H. Liggett's paper, read by Mrs. K. U. Wirtz, she considered some other phases of the probate court's jurisdiction, such as mental illness, appropriation of property, vital statistics, public entertainment permits and local boards of education.

Practices and rules of adoption and the juvenile court were explained by Mrs. Henry Anderson, a member of the Board of County Visitors.

Discussion followed the talks.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 49 years old and feel like 100. About five years ago I became friendly with a married man, as a matter of fact he was my milkman. I was married at the time but my husband was a poor lover. Of course he knew nothing of my romance. Seven months ago my husband passed away. I know I should stop seeing this married man but I'm so lonesome I just can't make the break. The other day he took out his billfold and when I saw the picture of his wife and four beautiful children I felt like two cents. What is a lonesome widow to do?—ALONE.

Dear Alone: You can put that show on the road. If this affair has been going on five years you were whooping it up long before you were a lonesome widow. Remember?

Family Tenament

Dear Ann: The house we live in is part of a run-down estate which my husband inherited. We share a home with his brother and family. On the adjoining lot is his sister and her family. On the other side is an unmarried sister-in-law who lives with her mother.

The brother-in-law who shares our home is a heavy drinker—or, I should say, a drunk. He's home a great deal and fights with the children as if he were a child himself.

My sister-in-law makes frequent trips out of town and leaves her three kids with me. My kids don't get along with hers.

My mother-in-law follows me around the house constantly when I try to clean and her yammering drives me nuts. When I see her coming I actually become dizzy and nauseated.

I've begged my husband to find another place but he says we'd be crazy to move as we live very inexpensively.

I feel myself cracking up. Please help me.—SINKING FAST

Dear Sinking: Your husband has found the most expensive way of saving money known to mankind. Tell him your sanity is at stake and he MUST rent you a place away from the relative settlement. In the long run it will be infinitely cheaper than institutional care for you and a housekeeper for your children.

Young Love

Dear Ann: I am a girl who is 9 years old. I used to be in love with the boy next door. Our mothers used to take walks together and push us in our baby carriages. This is how we met.

Then we moved away from that city. I was 5 years old. He didn't write to me but I can't blame him because he was only 5 himself and couldn't write.

This year I got a Christmas card from him but it was not the kind most people get. It was a card that somebody had sent to his parents. He crossed out the sender's name and signed his own. On the bottom he wrote, "Please write."

Do you think that I should write to him even if he was too cheap to buy me a card himself?—DEBORAH.

Dear Deborah: The thought is what counts and he DID think about you. Write to him anyway.

Confidentially

TO LET DOWN: This is a tough ol' world for most people. The only thing you can count on is your

If you're concerned about tuition costs and such—here's how investing may help

1. Chances are your paycheck alone won't buy all the things you want for your family. It will probably take money from other sources to help pay for some things—such as education, weddings, long vacations, and ultimately the comfortable retirement you want.

2. Wise investments in stocks and bonds may help you be a better provider. It is possible for investing to help in two ways—by giving you a "second income" from dividends or interest, and perhaps by building for you and your family a tidy little estate, one that's almost always quickly convertible to cash.

3. More than 12 million Americans who own stock have a chance to share in the nation's growing economy. If the American economy grows, so will much of the industry and business that make up the economy. Why not consider the opportunity to share in that growth? You can, you know, for as little as $40 every three months through a convenient Monthly Investment Plan.

4. Wise investors get information and advice from Member Firms of the New York Stock Exchange. With more than 2,600 offices throughout the country, Member Firms make it a business to help the new investor and old alike get facts about companies before they invest in them.

5. Here's how you can start: Plan your budget so you won't be investing money that should go for regular living expenses, and leave a reserve for emergencies. Remember that security prices go down as well as up and sometimes a company may not pay dividends or interest.

Send the coupon below for the booklet, "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." It lists over 400 stocks that have paid dividends every year from 25 to 112 years.

Phone or call on a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Ask for facts about stocks or bonds that you feel would fit your needs.

It's never too soon to consider how investing can help you provide for your family's growing needs and wants.

Northwestern Replaces Van Del As State's Top 'A' Team

Salem Still 3rd In Class AA

Canton Timken Moves to 4th Place

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Little Bloomfield High of Washington County has only 14 boys enrolled. Ten of them are on the basketball team.

Roger Williams, the center, is averaging 30.7 points per game—one of the gaudiest marks in the state.

But to prove that basketball is a team game, Bloomfield has triumphed in only one of its 13 contests. Williams is just one of the standouts who will not be on hand March 25-26 when the scholastic stars battle for the state championship.

The big news in Class A circles this week is the emergence of Northwestern of Wayne County, 1958 state champion, as No. 1 in the Associated Press poll. The ex-kings, with a neat 18-0 record, climbed from third to first place this week as 46 sports writers participated in the ratings.

Van Del of Van Wert County, last week's leader, suffered its first loss—a 43-42 squeaker to Convoysville's 17-1 team. Salem Local of Urban, with 16-0, clung to second place.

Only change in the Class A top 10 personnel came as Fostoria St. Wendelin (15-1), eighth last week, dropped out to make room for Granville's unbeaten squad.

Three of the top 10 in Class AA suffered defeats, and two of them dropped from the elite. Lakewood's 13-game winning streak was halted by unbeaten Canton Timken, 63-56, as John Namciur scored 29 for the victors.

The win boosted Timken from fifth to fourth place, and dropped Lakewood from fourth to sixth. Springfield was victimized by Lima Senior, 62-61, and Pomeroy—in the ratings—for the first time last week—was handed its first loss 54-53 by Jackson.

Both Springfield and Pomeroy were ousted, and Toledo Scott (14-1) moved into seventh and unbeaten Xenia (13-0) into ninth.

The top three, Dayton Roosevelt, Cleveland East Tech and Salem, stayed where they were.

From here and there: ast Tech's defending Class AA champions end their regular season Friday against Cleveland Cathedral Latin. The Scarabs have won 14 straight after dropping the opener. Trumbull County's 40th Class A tournament opens next Tuesday, with Vienna (15-3) and Lordstown (15-4) the top-seeded teams. Vienna plays unbeaten Lowellville (15-0) tonight.

Massillon and Mansfield played an experimental game Saturday, using the professional rule which forces a team to shoot within 24 seconds after getting the ball. Massillon won 62-60 in an overtime for a 13-3 record. Tiger Coach Bob Greenwood says the rule is good for the spectators, but he doesn't think high school boys are ready for it. Each team lost the ball once for failure to fire within the time limit.

Ashland made 15 straight free throws in the final quarter to defeat Mansfield 70-62. Dave Farris of Monroeville made 42 points in the 95-59 win over North Fairfield. Dick Bookwalter of Plymouth and Gary Crum, Cardington's fine footballer, each scored 33.

Jerry Boomer of Dayton Dunbar scored 33, a point under the Gem City league record, but missed a layup in the last four seconds and Dunbar lost to Roth, a first-year school, by 67-66. In the same game eight of Roth's last 11 points were scored by Lee Martin, who at a 23 total after a late start. Martin arrived late, didn't have a ticket to the Fairgrounds Coliseum, the doorkeeper wouldn't let him in. By the time the faculty manager fixed things, and Martin got dressed, Roth was behind 11-3 and the first period was almost over.

Xenia, which made the top 10 for the first time, has a 32.9-point spread over its 13 victims. T. Greene County boys are averaging 75.5 to the foes' 42.6. The Xenia club, with one strong addition, is the same which reached the regional finals last year—and the current edition is considered a big threat to top-ranked Dayton Roosevelt in this year's tournament play. Salem's 5-11 guard, Dave Hunter, missed the school scoring record by three as he tallied 34 in the 90-59 win over Youngstown South—and Coach John Cabas took him out with 5:31 remaining. He came right back with 30 in the 75-56 win over East Liverpool, hoisting his average to 21.6.

New Boston clinched its fifth consecutive Southern Ohio Conference crown Friday by beating Class AA Portsmouth East 69-30, with Leroy Frazier, All-Ohio second stringer last year, scoring 29. In the five-year reign New Boston has a 101-9 record, with more than half the games against double-A opposition. Walnut Twp. stalled for 26 of the 32 minutes in the Pickaway County League, but the slow-down didn't help as Ashville won its eighth straight in the loop by 32-34. Only two shots were taken in the third quarter, one by each team, and both were good for two points.

Lowellville, Canfield Inter-County Favorites

Each Should Win Pair This Week

Three long streaks, two winning and one losing, are expected to be extended after games this week in the Inter-County League.

Lowellville, the state's seventh ranked Class A cage power, can add victories number 15 and 16 to its unbeaten skein by taking care of Vienna tonight and Jackson-Milton on Friday. The non-league game with Vienna could be close, but the powerful Rockets of Coach Dick Williams already have set their sights on Columbus.

Canfield, which is also unbeaten in league competition, hasn't dropped a contest in its last seven games. The Cardinals shouldn't have much trouble this week in home encounters with loop foes, Greenford and Springfield Local.

CANFIELD HAS a showdown battle coming up with the Rockets next week at Lowellville.

Fairfield-Waterford, loser of 12 straight games, tangles with McDonald tonight. On Friday the Rebels get a crack at North Lima, one of the two teams they have managed to defeat this season.

Fairfield-Waterford opened the season with a 62-53 win over North Lima. The Rebels then flattened Western Reserve 86-55 but haven't won a game since. The game Friday will be played at North Lima, which doesn't help matters for the Rebels.

IF ITS ANY consolation for Fairfield-Waterford, North Lima has been having its troubles this season, too. The Zippers snapped a five-game losing streak Saturday with a 54-41 victory over Mineral Ridge.

The complete Inter-County League slate this week shows four

Stamping Nips Mesmer 83-81

Barnes Sets Record In Overtime Contest

Salem Stamping outscored Mesmer Coal 8-6 in an overtime period to rack up a thrilling 83-81 victory in a City League basketball game played Monday night at the Memorial Building.

Lee Barnes of Mesmer's set a new season scoring record by whipping in 34 points. Dean Nicholson had set the previous high mark of 33 points just last week against Shaffer Ford.

Vaughn Harshman and Walt Good each tallied four points in the overtime to nail down the victory for Stamping. The contest was deadlocked at 75-all after regulation time.

THE GAME WAS close all the way, with the lead exchanging hands on almost every basket. Stamping maintained narrow one-point quarter leads of 20-19, 41-40 and 56-55.

Stamping won the game with a well-balanced scoring attack while Mesmer's offense was keyed to two men, Barnes and Jim Coman. Stamping had six players hit in double figures. Harshman led the winners with 17 markers. Sonny Bowman kept the Stamping outfit in the game during the last half when he tossed in 14 points. He had picked up only two points on a pair of foul shots in the first half.

COMAN WAS only two points off the pace of Barnes' record-breaking 34-point effort. He flipped in 15 goals and two fouls for 32 markers. Barnes tallied his 34 points on 11 fielders and 12 fouls. The win snapped a four-game losing streak for Stamping which now has a 3-4 record. Mesmer Coal has two wins and five setbacks.

In the other Class A game played last night, league-leading Herron Transfer got off to a slow start but raced in the second half for a 68-42 victory over Birkhimer's Isals.

THE TRUCKERS won their 16th straight game of the season without a loss. They are 7-0 in the second round. Birkhimer's dropped its ninth straight contest, including seven this round.

Birkhimer's broke on top 14-10 in the first quarter but fell behind 31-25 by halftime. In the second half the roof fell in. Herron's outscored the losers 37-17 in the last two periods.

Dean Nicholson once again led the Herron attack with 26 points. Norm Hill with 16 was top man for Birkhimer's.

Wrestling Match Set Saturday at Struthers

A wrestling match, billed by promoter Vince Risco, as being the "world's tag team championship" will be held at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at the Struthers Field House.

Champions Mike and Doc Gallagher will be challenged by Bobo Brazil and Ilio DiPaulo. In their last meeting at the Struthers Field House on Jan. 16, the Gallaghers were given the nod over DiPaulo and Brazil in an unpopular decision among the fans.

The semi-final bout on Saturday will bring together Angelo Poffo and Dick Beyer. Byer is the football line coach at Syracuse University.

Risco plans to round up two more matches for the four-bout program. This will be the last wrestling show in Struthers until after March.

Area Animals Active During Mild Winter

During the past few months there have been several reports from the area of different animals not following their usual customs in preparing for a long, cold winter.

L. T. Williams has noticed that the black bears at the Williams Wild Game Farm in New Waterford have not hibernated this winter. The bears have been out for their regular feeding each day, Williams reports.

Wild skunks on the farm have also been out all winter. This is unusual because the skunk is another animal that hibernates. Chipmunks also have been seen frequently at the Farm recently.

Hunter Takes Over County Scoring Lead

Leetonia's Radler Tumbles Down To Third

By DICK BRAUTIGAM
Salem's all - state guard candidate, Dave Hunter, has taken over the scoring lead among Columbiana County cagers.

The 5-11 senior, a regular on last year's state Class AA runner-up combine, tallied 64 points in two games last week to move from third place in the scoring race. Last week's leader, Lee Radler of Leetonia, tumbled all the way to third place. Jim Summer, United High School's talented athlete, remained in second place, just two points behind Hunter.

HUNTER HAS registered 303 points, Summer 301 and Radler 285. All three have played 14 games this season. Little Kenny Cunningham, East Liverpool's sharpshooting guard, is resting in fourth place with 220 points in 12 games.

Hunter also boasts the best average in the county, 21.6 points per game. Summer is right behind the Salem flash with a 21.5 mark.

Summer, a 6-1 senior, holds the single game high this season. He ripped the nets for 40 points and a new school record in United's 91-51 smashing of Salineville on Friday.

SALEM, UNITED and Columbiana each have three men among the county's top 20 scorers. Wells-ville, Beaver Local and Salineville each have two men in the select group. East Palestine, East Liverpool, Leetonia, Fairfield-Waterford and Lisbon each have one man among the leaders.

Wellsville displayed a pressing defense against Mingo on Saturday which proved to be a better offensive weapon than a defensive one. The Tigers racked up 107 points but Mingo hooked 81 of its own.

A heavy slate of games is on tap this week. Eight contests are slated for tonight, nine Friday and two Saturday.

Team and individual standings are as follows:

Big O Nets 62 Against NTS

Cincy, W. Virginia, Bradley Win Games

By The Associated Press
There's one thing about Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson — he just doesn't know when to leave the record books alone.

Take Monday night. The Big O, who already is college basketball's all-time scorer, hit a personal all-time high with 62 points against North Texas State, as the top-ranked Bearcats now 18-1, easily won, 123-74.

That raised his career total to 2,662 as he continues to improve on the old mark of 2,587, which he broke last Saturday night. Now he seems intent on seeing to it that no one is going to break his for a long time.

Robertson's tremendous performance overshadowed another fine job by West Virginia's Jerry West, who scored 35 points in leading the Mountaineers to a 98-69 victory over a fine New York University team for their 42nd straight home victory.

Bradley, still ranked second in the latest Associated Press poll, coasted to a 78-57 Missouri Valley victory over Houston, while fifth-ranked Ohio State made its Big Ten lead almost untouchable with a 106-69 triumph over Wisconsin.

Georgia Tech, No. 6 and the only other top-ranked club in action, defeated Louisiana State 78-56.

During one six-minute span Robertson scored 21 points. He hit a torrid 23 of 29 field goal attempts and 16 of 19 free throws, and pulled in 19 rebounds.

Elsewhere in the Big Ten, Michigan State defeated Illinois 78-77, Northwestern swept to a 66-64 victory over Minnesota overcoming a 13-point halftime deficit; Indiana won its fourth straight Big Ten game, 87-74 over Iowa; and Terry Dischinger got 29 points in pacing Purdue to a 79-65 win over Michigan.

Salem Frosh Score Easy Win Over Niles

Visiting Niles became the 11th victim of Salem's tall and talented freshman basketball squad when it fell 51-38 Monday in the local Junior High gym.

Salem Coach Sam Pridon used 18 men while picking up the easy win. Nate Cope paced the Quaker scoring attack with 11 points. Bob King and Dick Stark each added 10 markers for the locals.

High point man in the game was Rein of Niles who collected 14. Niles outshot Salem from the field, 31 per cent to 25 per cent. However, Salem controlled the backboards and got 79 shots away, compared to only 51 for Niles. The locals outscored Niles from the foul line 15-6.

Bob King was Salem's ace on the boards. The lanky ninth grader pulled off 16 rebounds. Cope had 12 rebounds for Salem.

Salem will take an 11-5 record into its next game against East Liverpool at home on Feb. 16.

Salem 8th, 7th Graders Split Games

Coach Tom Cope's Salem 8th grade all - star basketball team snapped an eight-game winning streak of Columbiana's 8th graders Monday by upsetting the host Clippers 29-19.

Columbiana's 7th grade whipped its counterpart from Salem 23-19. The 8th grade game was decided at the foul stripe where Salem's driving tactics drew 22 foul tries. Salem converted 14 of the 22 free throw attempts while Columbiana could hit on only one of six tries.

Danny Frank of Salem collected 12 points to top all scorers in the game. Ward and Hutton each tallied six markers for Columbiana. Jim Anderson worked a fine game on the boards for Salem, pulling down 11 rebounds.

The Quakers 8th graders have a 7-3 season record. Salem's 7th grade team seemed lost on the big Columbiana floor. A sharp little Columbiana quintet was led by Keck who dumped in 15 points. Salem was able to convert only five of 19 foul attempts in the tilt.

Salem 7th grade had a 15-12 lead at halftime but was held to only four more points the entire game. Columbiana took a 23-16 lead at the three-quarter mark. The Clippers hung on for the victory despite the fact that they failed to score a point in the last quarter.

Chip Mosher allied eight points to pace the Salem 7th grade which lost its third contest in 10 starts. Wukotich 0-0-0; Nollie 1-0-2; Carter 0-0-0; Anderson 1-3-5; Washington 1-7-9; Spack 0-0-0; Frank 4-4-12; Huber 0-0-0

Fullmer Signs for Fight With Giardello

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer will defend his title April 20 against seventh-ranked Joey Giardello of Philadelphia. The fight will be held either in Bozeman or Missoula, Mont.

The sponsoring Intermountain Boxing Club signed Giardello to a contract Monday. He will receive a flat $25,000 plus expenses.

Mary Jensen, Fullmer's manager, says Fullmer has not signed a formal contract, but has agreed to the fight for a $100,000 guarantee plus expenses.

Fullmer, 28, will be making his second NBA title defense. He outpointed Spider Webb of Chicago last December in his first defense of the National Boxing Assn. crown. His title is recognized in all states except New York and Massachusetts.

Illinois Kills Bowl Prospects

Against Renewing Long Standing Series

CHICAGO (AP)—Chances of another Rose Bowl tieup involving the Big Ten appear dead following Illinois' vote against a new contract.

Illinois' decision Monday night was believed the decisive one, killing all chances of renewing the New Year's Day football series. Five schools are for renewal and five against. A majority vote is needed for approval.

Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Ohio State have announced their stand against the postseason game. Northwestern has not decided but voted against in the past and is expected to again.

Hopes for continuing the series were revived last month when the Big Ten decided to take another vote.

This followed last spring's vote when possible renewal of the series was killed in a 5-5 deadlock. But with the founding of the Athletic Assn. of Western Universities to replace the Pacific Coast Conference, a new invitation was extended to the Big Ten to continue playing in the Rose Bowl.

The Big Ten then took the current vote.

Michigan State, Michigan, Purdue, Indiana and Iowa favor continuing the series. However, there are indications Iowa will swing against if another vote is taken at the school.

The formal vote will come up at the Big Ten meetings March 3-5.

Lou Saban Named To Coach Boston Team

BOSTON (AP) Lou Saban, former college and pro star, has been named head coach of the Boston entry in the American Football League.

Saban, 38, was signed Monday to a three-year contract at what Boston General Manager Ed. McKeever called "very satisfactory" terms.

Saban played for Indiana University and the Cleveland Browns of the defunct All-America Conference and held coaching posts at Western Illinois, Case Institute, the University of Washington and Northwestern.

Wisconsin Bows 106-69 to OSU

Indiana Rips Iowa; Purdue, MSU Win

By The Associated Press
Ohio State's Buckeyes took another stride toward their first Big Ten basketball title in 10 years by smashing Wisconsin 106-69 Monday night for their eighth conference victory without defeat.

Sophomore Jerry Lucas and his high-scoring teammates need only three victories in their last six games to assure at least a share of the championship.

While the Buckeyes had things their own way at Madison, Purdue defeated Michigan 79-65 at Ann Arbor to take over second place and Indiana whipped Iowa 87-74 at Bloomington to move into a third place tie with Illinois.

Illinois dropped a 78-77 decision at Michigan State and Northwestern clipped Minnesota 66-64 at Minneapolis.

Only Purdue (5-3), Indiana (4-3) and Illinois (4-3) have even remote hope of catching the talented Buckeyes.

Lucas pumped in 26 points against Wisconsin while four other Buckeyes scored in double figures with Larry Siegfried netting 22. Mel Nowell netted 18 and relief man Dick Ferry 14.

The Badgers, cheered on by a home record crowd of 12,187, made a fight of it for 10 minutes. They led 18-15 and didn't surrender the lead for keeps until OSU went on top at 21-20.

From there on it was all Ohio. The Bucks led 46-33 at halftime before burning the cords with 60 points in the second half, when Lucas meshed 17.

The Buckeyes used their height advantage to control the boards and generally puzzle Wisconsin with a fine display of high-handed passing.

It was the seventh Big Ten loss in seven starts for the Badgers. In this one, they watched OSU shatter the Wisconsin fieldhouse scoring record of 99 set by Illinois in 1955.

Terry Dischinger, Purdue's sophomore scoring star, hit for 29 points and helped stage a second half rally which pushed Michigan to its seventh loss without victory. Michigan was ahead by 10 points early in the second half before Dischinger tossed in 21 points to spark the Boilermakers. John Tidwell was high for Michigan with 25.

Indiana scored its fourth straight conference victory after three initial losses and had little trouble with Iowa although 6-10 Walt Bellamy was shackled with four fouls.

Michigan State never relinquished its 43-32 halftime lead but the Illini made a battle of it and nearly pulled the game out in the final minute. Horace Walker again was MSU's leading scorer with 29 points.

Northwestern (4-4) erased a 13-point deficit to clip Minnesota (4-5).

Herter Doubts Nikita Will Issue Berlin Ultimatum

Foresees Need For More Talks

Less Optimistic on Avoiding Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP) Secretary of State Christian A. Herter apparently is less optimistic than he was a few months ago about avoiding a new showdown with the Soviet Union over Berlin.

But he doubts that Premier Nikita Khrushchev will confront the Western powers with an ultimatum in this dispute in the summit conference in Paris in May.

He foresaw the need for further negotiations and perhaps a second summit conference to settle the dispute.

Herter's views of the critical Berlin dispute came out Monday in a news conference at which he also:

1. Discussed the possibility that Khrushchev may be building a tougher, more aggressive foreign policy on the Soviet Union's growing power in nuclear missiles.
2. Conceded that Soviet achievements in space have made a greater impact on world opinion than those of the United States, increasing Soviet prestige as a scientific and military power.

Herter was reminded at his news conference that last November he had said that the Soviets had come a very long way on the Berlin issue since November 1958. At that time they threatened to try to squeeze the Western powers out of the city unless West Berlin was made a free city in six months.

He was asked whether he felt that recent statements by Khrushchev on the Berlin issue meant that his position had become tougher since his September talks with President Eisenhower at Camp David.

"Yes," Herter replied, "I think that is the only way one can interpret the statements that have been made since that time."

Herter cited specifically a Soviet bloc declaration last week that unless the Western powers agreed to a German peace treaty the Communist countries would make a separate peace treaty with East Germany, covering the Berlin problem. Khrushchev had made similar statements recently.

However, Herter said that as far as the United States knows Khrushchev is still standing by the letter of his agreement at Camp David not to impose a deadline on negotiations with the West over Berlin.
